

Sport Nautique
de
Saint Quay-Portrieux

Communiqué de Presse N°2 :

Some weeks before the Olympic Games

Sailing in the mist...

First confrontations

For this first day of qualification, the crews have completed seven flights which is equivalent to 28 starts which seems incredible despite the unwelcoming weather.

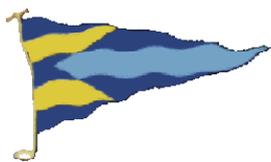

The teams had to deal with the mist and little wind that finally let up in the sun in the late afternoon, when the crews put their feet on the ground.

Concerning the results, the difficulty was reflected in the results as neither team has won all their matches. Three teams lead the competition: Renée Groeneveld (The Netherlands), Silvia Roca Mata (Spain) and Genny Tulloch (USA) with four games won on 5 competed matches

The Spanish team of Tamara Etchegoyen was not able to take part in those matches as she was injured. We all hope to see her sailing tomorrow!

Back to shore, Genny Tulloch expressed her feelings: the sailing conditions were very difficult with an unstable wind and strong current. We were impressed by the number of flights run

Sport Nautique
de
Saint Quay-Portrieux

More information :

On the event website, you will find a 3D live tracking, live results match after match.
http://www.ffvoile.fr/ffv/web/evenement/2012/MR_StQuay/communiques/home.asp

To follow the real time news, connect to the event Twitter account: @StQuayWMatchCup

Press Contact:

mail : sport-nautique-st-quay@wanadoo.fr

via Twitter : private message @StQuayWMatchCup

Téléphone : +33 2 96 70 93 34

Photos Christian CHARDON

Photos Christian CHARDON

